

Introducing educational opportunities from the MISS Foundation

the Leading Non-Profit Organization on Parental Grief and Trauma following Child Death

~Workshops and Seminars~
Conducted at our new International Headquarters in North Phoenix,
Arizona

The Center for Loss and Trauma

A child's death leaves a family in torrential mourning. Each individual is profoundly affected by their child's death. In most cases, the family unit itself changes dramatically. In addition, this type of human experience challenges normalcy and the equilibrium of individuals. While some family members, colleagues, friends, and neighbors return to "normal" after a child's death, the grieving family is often struggling to integrate their grief into an awakened sense of self and unity. The parental grief experience can feel insurmountable and overwhelming – not transitory in nature, but rather, an enduring, life-changing journey.

Join Dr. Joanne Cacciatore, Fellow in Thanatology and Founder of MISS Foundation on a journey into the experience of parental grief.
