Lyrics by Joanne Cacciatore

My child, I have to tell you
There is truth within my heart
From the moment that you left me
Even since we've been apart

Mere words will never let me show
This emptiness so real
In the silence that surrounds me
Too much sorrow now to heal

(CHORUS)

Perhaps, you were too beautiful
Too perfect for this place
Time passes and I wait, my child
But nothing can erase
Not even time or space
For now, I pray for grace

Not a time when I won't love
Dear child, you're everywhere
Not a time when I won't miss you
Not a time when I won't care

(CHORUS)

Perhaps, you were too beautiful
Too perfect for this place
Time passes and I wait, my child
But nothing can erase
Not even time or space
For now, I pray for grace

In the moment of hello
And in the moment of goodbye
I'll keep your memory close

With every tear I cry

My child, I have to tell you
There is truth within my heart
From the moment that you left me
Even since we've been apart

Perhaps you were too beautiful
Too perfect for this place

...For Chey, forever
